

Design - June 28 2006

Vicious Jaw Bean Bag

When you really think about it, who doesn't want a chair that looks like the mouth of a snarling animal? In the form of a beanbag, it's an ideal pairing of comfort and juvenile tendencies. A beanbag designed to look like a yellow leopard's mouth, the Vicious Jaw chair features a backrest in the roof of the animal's mouth, as well as a leg-rest in the mouth's tongue. Grasping at the title of "the world's first ever" designer beanbags, Slack's smallish 34" x 34" x 30"(h) Vicious Jaw bags can be acquired direct from Hong Kong by clicking here, clicking on the green chair at the center of the page, and then clicking on the "Vicious Jaw" link. So, it's more suited to a kid than an adult—big deal. This is the kind of thing the game room of the contemporary bachelor pad calls for. [Thanks, Pedro]

By: richard rowe